

HAVE YOU WEAK LUNGS?

Do colds settle on your chest or in your bronchial tubes? Do coughs hang on, or are you subject to throat troubles?

Such troubles should have immediate treatment with the strengthening powers of Scott's Emulsion to guard against consumption which so easily follows.

Scott's Emulsion contains pure cod liver oil which peculiarly strengthens the respiratory tract and improves the quality of the blood; the glycerine in it soothes and heals the tender membranes of the throat.

Scott's is prescribed by the best specialists. You can get it at any drug store.

VERMONT OPINION

DID THEIR "BIT."

Barre Times.

According to the Middlebury Register, which no doubt speaks with authority from Chaplain Thomas of Middlebury, there was exceptionally little grumbling among the Vermont troops at Eagle Pass; no more, in fact, than there is in a "women's sewing circle."

SENATOR PAGE.

Bennington Banner.

That the physical condition of Senator Carroll S. Page is serious is coming to be the general belief throughout the State. No statement from the family physicians has been made but the fact that the senator is in bed at the Rutland hospital in care of a specialist on diseases of a serious sort has given rise to rumors which grow in volume. The people of the State of Vermont regardless of party or faction hope that the condition of Senator Page is not as bad as reported, that his recovery may be complete and that he may be able to resume his seat in the senate when congress again assembles.

THE MOTORCYCLE.

Bennington Banner.

The motorcycle as at present made and used appeals only to a small number of vigorous young people who can endure being jounced over the road in dust and dirt at a rate of speed that to older and more easy-going people seems frightful and dangerous. Some day an enterprising motorcycle maker will come along and make a machine that will run slowly and quietly and will appeal to a larger number of people who cannot afford to own an automobile. Possibly that kind of a machine may be made now but we never chance to see one in operation. The motorcycle is a machine of moderate cost and is reliable and easily kept in running order and it would seem that its field of usefulness might be enlarged.

DR. ERNEST M. HOPKINS.

Burlington News.

The inauguration of so young a president for so great a college as Dr. Hopkins' inauguration at Dartmouth probably springs as great a surprise in academic circles as could well be imagined. Adding to this the fact that Dr. Hopkins has attained no particularly high place as a student of any concrete subject and the surprise becomes greater.

Where, in his comparatively few years out of college, he has done the work which attracted the attention of the trustees, is in the field of administration. He has been out of college scarcely more than 10 years. Yet, during this time, among those who have followed his career, he has established an enviable reputation as an administrator. It is this, and not any unusual attainments in the field of scholarship, which has brought the new incumbent his position.

VOTES FOR HUGHES.

St. Albans Messenger.

President Wilson makes an unfortunate start in his attempted defense of the eight-hour law which he forced a cowardly Congress to pass without knowledge of the justice or ultimate effect of the measure. The President insists that "we believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day" thereby exposing his ignorance of what the law was which he caused to be put on the statute book.

It is not an eight-hour working day for which the railroad men were striving; it was an eight-hour basis for the computation of wages which they wanted and which they got. It was a wage increased bill, not a limitation of the hours of labor, and the railroad men themselves would turn and smite Wilson if the law were what the President seems to think it is. The Democratic campaign managers would do well to put a muzzle on the President for he convicts himself before the people. The Republicans will pray that Mr. Wilson continue his explanations. They are vote-makers—for Hughes.

LIGHTS ON VEHICLES.

St. Albans Messenger.

Altogether too much has been written about the carrying of lights on horse-drawn vehicles from the standpoint of the man in the wagon. It is a waste of time to argue from that point of view, for the man of brains and some concern for his own safety does not need a law to make him carry a light; he will carry one because he knows that it is safer for his own hide to do so.

But there is an argument from the side of the man in the automobile. If the man in the lightless wagon doesn't care enough about his own safety to go to the trouble and expense of buying an extra lantern (it seems after all he puts a just estimate on the value of his own life) he ought not to be allowed to jeopardize the safety of occupants of an automobile being driven at night. The next legislature ought to brush aside the weak arguments which will be advanced against a lights on vehicles bill and pass the measure. Of course, no law can put brains in a man's head but if enforced it can protect others from paying the penalty of another's folly.

LOWER PRICES FOR VERMONT PRODUCTS.

Randolph Herald and News.

The Barton Monitor presents some interesting figures and asks a pertinent question. Government reports show that on seven principal farm products, the prices paid to producers in Vermont were materially lower in 1915 than in four other New England States. Compared with New Hampshire, the Vermont farmer received $4.10 less per ton for his hay, five cents less per dozen for his eggs, three cents per pound less for his chickens, 60 cents less per hundred for his hogs, $1.50 per hundred less for his beef cattle, 90 cents per hundred less for his veal, and 11-2 cents per pound less for his maple sugar. And farmers of Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island received materially more than those of New Hampshire. The Monitor asks if the reason is not a monopoly in the buying. This very likely may have an influence in certain localities where buyers are few. A more potent reason is that consuming markets are scarce in Vermont and that the cost of the long haul comes out of the producer who has to compete in Boston and other centers with those living nearer. The Vermont producer has some compensating advantages, however, not to speak of the great one of living in the best State in the Union.

THE GLOWWORM CIGARETTE.

Newport Express and Standard.

Did you ever walk along at night and see a little round glow of light about the size of a marrowfat pea on the sidewalk or out in the main street? That is the glowworm cigarette. And that little glowworm is responsible for more fires than all the tramps, incendiaries and poor chimneys put together. No one is in sight, but there it burns, and burns, and burns, as contentedly as if there was a human suction pump behind it. Many brands of cigarette will burn themselves all up in this way, and this is where the element of danger comes in.

Just watch the smoker of a cigarette. In most cases when half or three-quarters consumed the smoker gives them a fling, and they land somewhere. Then the glowworm period begins. And if the landing place is suitably conditioned, sometime, with no one being any the wiser, the fire alarm is rung in. You have seen these flings, in the street, in the stable, when the party enters a house, or in the woods, or wherever he may happen to be. The flinging process is a natural one, inherited with other thoughtless faults. Whenever the cigarette has fulfilled its mission it is flung; and rest assured, still burning in nine cases out of ten. So the little innocent looking glowworm cigarette becomes the cutest modern devil to start a conflagration of anything there is outside of a lighted match.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Rutland News.

The Merchants' association of Kansas City has inaugurated a movement looking to the observance of Thanksgiving day this year on November 23 instead of November 30. A telegram has been sent President Wilson asking that he proclaim the earlier date. The merchants, it is explained, say that with the holiday falling this year on the last day of the month a hardship would result both to them and their customers, "crowding all the Christmas business into three weeks."

Thanksgiving day of course, is not a fixed feast. In the memory of middle aged persons it has been observed on the third instead of the fourth Thursday of November. It is not established by statute but depends upon the proclamation of the president of the United States and of the governors of the several States for its legality. There would seem to be little reason to object to a shifting in the date providing due notice of the change were given.

Nevertheless the proposal to make the change out of respect to business conditions comes with something of a shock. With solemnity the day is set apart for the giving of thanks to the Most High and for the reunion of families. Doubtless the occasion has come to be used much for recreation and for foot ball contests in particular, but not before have we had any open attempts to commercialize the institution in any way. A request for a change on the ground that better weather might be expected for the throngs watching the gridiron games would have caused much less of a sentimental jar.

THE BAR.

The saloon is sometimes called a bar—That's true.

A bar to heaven, a door to hell;
Whoever named it, named it well.
A bar to manliness and wealth;
A door to want and broked health;
A bar to honor, pride and fame;
A door to grief and sin and shame.
A bar to home, a bar to prayer;
A door to darkness and despair.
A bar to honored useful life;
A door to brawling, senseless strife.
A bar to all that's true and brave;
A door to every drunkard's grave.
A bar to joys that home imparts;
A door to tears and aching hearts.
A bar to heaven, a door to hell;
Whoever named it, named it well.

ELECTRIC STATION AT SALISBURY.

The Addison Electric Power company, which had just been incorporated with a capital stock of $500,000, has taken over the holdings of the Kingsley-Wood Pulp company and the Stoddard property at Salisbury and will erect there a modern electric station. The company has also purchased 800 acres of timber land in Addison county.

BRATTLEBORO FAMILY REUNION.

Four survivors of a Brattleboro family of 11 children held a reunion in this town a few days ago, which was the first time they had gotten together in 27 years. They were William Trendell of Windsor, George E. Trendell of Philadelphia, and Alfred C. Trendell and Mrs. Matilda Knights of Brattleboro. They met at the home of Mrs. Knights, who lives in the north Waterbury building on Elliott street. All of the 11 children were born in Brattleboro.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

Raymond Sharlow, 18 years old, of West Enosburg, was brought to St. Albans and given a hearing in the City court on charge of breaking into W. R. Oviatt's store. He was bound over for appearance at the March term of Franklin County court in the sum of $500, which he was unable to furnish and was remanded to jail. Money had been missed from the store at different times and men were sleeping in the store and caught Sharlow when it is alleged, he broke in Saturday at midnight.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE.

Thomas Leonard and party of Bristol returning from Waterbury Friday were injured when the automobile turned over. In attempting to pass a car Mr. Leonard ran near the edge of the road, which caved in, overturning the car, the occupants being pinned beneath. N. DeGuise suffered a dislocated shoulder, Mrs. DeGuise had a broken wrist, Gilson Martin was bruised and his shoulder was dislocated, and Mrs. Martin had three ribs cracked and was injured internally. Mr. Leonard was badly bruised and unconscious when taken from under the car. The little child of Mr. and Mrs. DeGuise escaped uninjured.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' EXHIBIT.

At the boys' and girls' exhibit, national dairy show and eastern States agricultural and industrial exposition Springfield, Mass., October 12-22, will be seen the best products that the genius of the boys and girls of the eastern States can produce. The boys and girls throughout Vermont are responding in large numbers to the call to send exhibits. Not only are those from the larger towns and cities responding most satisfactorily, but equally large numbers from the smaller towns are expressing their desire to exhibit and compete for prizes.

U. S. COURT ADJOURNS.

The September session of the United States district court, which opened here Tuesday was adjourned Saturday morning without any definite date being fixed for reconvening. The only business which came before Judge Hartland B. Howe was a brief argument by E. L. Stafford, counsel for the Central Fruit company of Boston, who have a claim for $800, on a petition for revocation of the discharge in the bankruptcy case of V. Koutsoulis of Rutland. Judge Howe has changed the place of sentence of Frank Roberts, who received six months for burglarizing East Ryegate postoffice, from the House of Correction to Addison county jail, Middlebury.

HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Mrs. Marshall Bear of Swanton was brought to the hospital in St. Albans Saturday evening about 8:30 suffering from injuries received in a runaway accident which occurred about five o'clock in the afternoon near the west station in that village. Her condition is serious. She suffered a cut on the right knee, concussion of the brain and possible internal injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Bear were driving when one of the tugs on the harness broke, letting the wagon on the horse's heels. The animal kicked the dashboard off the wagon and Mrs. Bear slid between the wagon and the horse, being dragged some distance. Dr. J. M. Caisse, who was summoned, accompanied the injured woman to the hospital.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN BRANDON.

School was closed in Brandon Friday noon until further notice on account of the development of a suspected case of infantile paralysis, Myrtle Marsette, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marsette of Maple street. The girl was taken ill during the noon recess. She had not been feeling well for several days and had not been in school, but felt well enough to attend Thursday morning and was allowed to go. One of the child's legs appears to be paralyzed. The State board of health has been notified and will probably investigate the case at once.

DROWNED IN LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

Earl C. Morrill and John Smith of Huntington, aged 27, were both drowned in Lake Champlain between Hog Back Island and the long fill of the Rutland railroad on Sunday, while the two with others were on a fishing trip for the day. The two men with O. H. and R. E. Morrill of Huntington and Dr. J. Whitty and son, John of Williston, left Burlington in the morning in E. A. Brodie's motor boat, Uncas. The wind was blowing stiffly from the south but not enough seriously to impede their progress. When the boat was within 100 rods or so from the drawbridge Mr. Morrill, who was near the engine stepped upon the small deck of the stern to wave to the trainmen of a milk train. Mr. Smith was near him, sitting down. Suddenly Morrill lost his balance as the boat lurched and fell into the water. Mr. Smith either went in to save him, or was pulled in. The engine became disabled as the occupants of the boat attempted to reverse it and the boat stopped. Mr. Morrill, the uncle, tried to swim to the drowning men but was unable to get that far. An attempt to save the men with life preservers proved also futile.

HATCHING SALMON.

A correspondent sends the following clipping, which was found in a fisherman's basket, with the view that it may set the fish and game people and fishermen generally thinking a little more deeply than they do upon the proper method of hatching salmon or other fish in Lake Dunmore: Olympia, Wash. Fish may still be propagated in the "good old way" without the expense of elaborate hatcheries, according to an experiment at the Kalama State hatchery. More salmon eggs were available that could be hatched in the regular hatchery, so ditches were dug and fresh water allowed to flow through and the surplus eggs deposited in inclosed portions of the ditches. The eggs hatched and thousands of little salmon will soon be ready to swim the waters of the Pacific.

No More Backache For Her.

Mrs. J. M. Gaskill, Elma Green, Ind., writes: "I suffered from severe backache, and sharp pains shooting through my back until I could not stoop over and get up without aid. Urinary trouble seemed to be the cause of it all. A single box of Foley Kidney Pills gave me such relief that I cannot praise them too highly." This standard remedy for kidney and bladder ailments can be taken with safety for backache, swollen ankles, and rheumatic pains.
